TOO OPTIMISTIC

As intimated some time ago in this column we might as well prepare for the worst in connection with the State tax program. But now we find upon its announcement by the governor that we were entirely too optimistic.

At the time some of our friends intimated that we were taking a rather doleful view of the situation and crying before being hurt but events prove otherwise.

We appreciate the fact that it takes money to run a State; not only that, but we are cognizant that the State is "in the red" and provision must be made in some way to meet the deficit, but we were not expecting or ready for the blow that descended.

OH LORD, HOW LONG!

Life hereafter in California promises to be just one tax after another and we will not be able to make a move without paying the piper. We had mistakenly thought that we had come to the limit of expenditures, but lo, and behold, we are nonchalantly informed that the trifling sum of about $14,000,000 will be required for the next biennium over the expenditures of the current one. And instead of the abolishment of a lot of useless commissions we are confronted with recommendations for the creation of more. Personally I have always been opposed to constitution-tinkering and voted against the amendment for the revision of the document; but like Saul, I have seen a great white light and am vociferously in favor of the session if it will only meet and abolish about three-fourths of the various boards which drain the pocketbooks of the people dry without rendering adequate service in return. When I think of the multitudes of boards and the hordes of employees that are fastened to them like barnacles I thoroughly appreciate the definition I once heard of a Board as "long, thin and wooden."

CANNOT ESCAPE THEM
But getting back to the tax program—first we must dig up the tidy sum of $17,500,000 in income taxes, and that sum must come from attenuated incomes which

Graduation Is Held At High School Here

At ceremonies last night in the Richmond Union High School auditorium a class of 125 students received their diplomas. Of the graduates, 68 were boys and 57 were girls, marking for the first time in many years that boys have outnumbered girls in the graduation classes.

The class was presented by Principal Bert X. Tucker, while Ira E. Scott, chairman of the board of education, presented the diplomas.

The talk of the evening was made by Arthur Stribley, the selected student speaker. Orchestra numbers were provided by the high school orchestra.

After the graduation, the Richmond Union High School P. T. A. entertained at a dance for graduating seniors at the Richmond Clubhouse. A well known local orchestra provided the music. Mrs. Louise Tarr was in charge of the affair.

Holdup Men Reap Big Jewel Harvest

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Jan. 23.—UP—Three bandits slugged Sol Roseman, New York jewelry salesman and escaped with $125,000 in diamonds after a battle with police.

One of the trio hit Roseman on the head with the butt end of a revolver, seized the portfolio of diamonds which fell from his hands, and jumped into a waiting car.

Police drove the bandits into a blind alley but the thieves opened fire, shooting their way out of the trap.

SUPERVISORS FORCE REMOVAL OF SOCIAL SERVICE DIRECTOR JAP, CHINESE TROOPS BATTLE

TAKE ACTION AT REQUEST GRAND JURY

BRUNO LADDER ALIBI IS BLASTED

MARTINEZ, Jan. 24 (Thursday) Mrs. Ruth McCord, head of the county social welfare department, and her assistant Mr. Iona Booth, of Richmond at an early hour this morning were temporarily removed from their positions, and it is understood final action in the matter will be taken after the grand jury and the supervisors hear additional witnesses in connection with the administration of the office.

As a result of the many facts elicited from witnesses at the session of the inquisitorial body, the session ending early this morning, the grand jury made a demand on the supervisors that a change in the department was immediately necessary.

Then followed the suspension of the two above named.

Just who will succeed them in their positions is not known at the present time but it is understood the supervisors will meet in special session this morning, and take action that will insure the perfect functioning of the work of the department.

Mrs. L. Frances, of Martinez, who resigned her position with the department the first of this month, was before the grand jury for over two hours, and it is understood, that the information elicited from her was what brought the sudden action.

SIX WITNESSES EXAMINED

Starting at 7 o'clock last evening the grand jury meeting at Martinez lasted until nearly 2 o'clock this morning. The entire night was devoted to an investigation into the affairs of the County Social Welfare department, of which Mrs. Ruth McCord is the head.

Six witnesses had been subpoenaed for the session, and the members of the board of supervisors had been invited to be present.

The supervisors were called into the room about 8:30 and remained during the entire meeting, all five being present.

The last witness to be called was Mrs. Ruth McCord, which took place just at midnight. District Attorney Francis Healey and his deputy, Rex Boyer, were present as was the court reporter, Miss Lydia Raffette.

The first witness called was Mrs. Iona Booth of Richmond. Then followed County Treasurer Charles L. Dodge, and Jesse Bowden of the firm of Daniels and Bowden, experts for the grand jury. Mrs. L. Frances of Martinez and then the head of the social welfare department.

Mrs. Frances was in the jury room for about two hours.

Both Mrs. Booth and Mrs. Frances have been or are connected with the welfare department.

Witnesses hurriedly left the building after being quizzed.

HAUPTMANN IDENTIFIED AS BUILDER

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—UP—Bruno Richard Hauptmann will go to the witness stand in his own defense at noon tomorrow, Edward J. Keilly, chief of defense counsel announced tonight.

TOOLS ARE FOUND
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—UP—The tools that carved and hacked out the rind ladder that the kidnaper left outside the home of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh belong to Bruno Richard Hauptmann's carpenter chest, a witness testified today.

A piece of the lumber in the ladder, added Arthur Koehler, department of agriculture wood expert, came out of the flooring in the Hauptmann attic.

STORY IS TOLD

Koehler never was a member of a police force and never earned his living by running criminals into the ground. But today he told an enthralling detective story of how he took grains of sawdust, rings and knots and chisel marks in time stained boards and came to the conclusion that Hauptmann built the kidnaper's ladder with his own tools and used a piece of wood from his own attic to do it. Koehler was called into the case after all clues were dim and cold. They handed him a ladder that was found outside the Lindbergh home after the kidnapping, and he went over it with a microscope.

STARTED HUNT
He noticed, with his microscope, that the lumber in the ladder was unevenly planed, that is, that one of the eight knives on the circular planer that prepared the timber was duller than the other seven. There was nothing that the human eye could detect—just a tiny variation that only an expert could see.

Koehler began a weary tour of lumber mills, looking for one that had a planer with one dull knife. (Continued on Page 5)

$61,450 Is Spent By SERA For Job Relief In County

An announcement from W. M. Sanborn, SERA auditor, shows a payroll of $6,688,794.40 was expended for unemployment relief in California during the month of December, 1934.

Of this amount $61,450.98 was expended in the Contra Costa area. In Contra Costa county $49,994.49 was spent in work relief employment for 1085 employees, while in Solano county $11,456.49 was used to employ 258 workers.

An increase of $237,160.42 is shown in the December payroll over that of November and 6,839 additional persons received unemployment relief earnings, throughout California.

VISITOR HERE

Mrs. F. K. Ausfall of Mira Vista, has as her guest her brother, R. D. Bailey of Colton, Calif. Bailey is making a trip around the world and plans to return to Colton in about five months.

Object of Wrath

WHEN THOMAS H. SISK, left, Department of Justice special agent, testified at Flemington, N. J., about the discovery of the Lindbergh ransom money in the Bronx, N. Y., garage, Hauptmann suddenly leaved to his feet and shouted "liar" at him. Sisk is shown with H. F. Seery, another special agent.

GRAND JUROR SUFFERS STROKE

MARTINEZ, Jan. 23.—During a lengthy session of the grand jury here tonight Edward A. Majors, chairman of the finance committee of the inquisitorial body, suffered a partial stroke of paralysis.

He was carried from the jury room to the front porch of the hall of records, and Dr. J. L. Merithew was called to give him medical attention. In a short time he was removed to his home. The left side of his body was affected.

Majors is one of the prominent citizens of this town, being vice-president and chairman of the advisory board of the American Trust Company branch here.

K. P. Lodge To Install New Officers Soon

A short business meeting of the Richmond lodge of Knights of Pythias was held last night at the brotherhood hall.

John Shidich presided. Plans were arranged for installation of officers, which will be held next Wednesday night. The social rank will be conferred and a banquet will be served. J. P. Rihn will be in charge of the banquet.

FIRE RAZES SCHOOL

BLYTHE, Jan. 23.—Fire destroyed the Blythe grammar school here last night. The blaze was not discovered until today by a rancher. The school was built in 1927 at a cost of $50,000, and was insured for $36,000. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Start Drive To Rid Nation Subversive Movements

A nation-wide movement has been inaugurated, and is being sponsored by the Benetton Protective Order of Elks to stamp out all subversive organizations in the United States and get rid of all of those allied with them.

To that end petitions have been placed in circulation, addressed to the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives asking that legislation be enacted to bring about the desired result. Locally, the Elks have the cooperation of the City Council, all service clubs, and private individuals. They hope to secure the signatures of at least 5,000 people in Richmond.

The petitions have been placed in many business homes, where those in sympathy with the movement, may affix their signatures. The objects of the drive are plainly set forth in detail in the petitions, as follows:

"To the Honorable Senate of the United States and to the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States of America:

The undersigned citizens of the United States of America respectfully submit that individuals, alien and August Gatto, proprietor of an El Cerrito cafe was fined $50 when he appeared in the court of Police Judge A. H. Thompson last night in El Cerrito.

Gatto was charged with selling liquor without a state permit. In fining the man, Judge Thompson declared that "this fine of $50 doesn't set a precedent for these cases. The next time it will be a much stiffer fine."

COLD WAVE DEATH TOLL IS MOUNTING

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Jan. 23.—UP—Three thousand persons were marooned by flood waters tonight as the Cold water river spread over a vast area of the Mississippi delta, causing widespread death and destruction.

Refugees huddled in temporary relief camps, hungry and cold. There were threats of famine and epidemics.

Deaths reached 16 when a woman and baby were reported to have been found frozen in a cotton house near Sledge, and the bodies of six unidentified negroes were washed up near Creunshaw. Seven deaths had been reported previously.

An area 60 miles long and in to 20 miles wide was under water. Rescue workers in motorboats were taken refuge from trees and house-tops. Many persons were feared lost.

By UNITED PRESS

Lashed by a northeast gale a blinding snowstorm drove across the eastern United States Wednesday night causing great human suffering, losses to business running into millions of dollars, and crippling transportation.

Five deaths were attributed to the storm in New York alone.

PLANES DOWN

Airplanes were grounded, railway service disrupted, and motor traffic stalled. More than a foot of snow had fallen in New York before midnight, and 32,000 men, working continually, were unable to keep all the city's streets

Perasso Tells Club Of Visit To Legislature

Joe Perasso, well-known local business man, last night told the members of the Galileo Club of his visit to the State Legislature as a director of the Italian Chamber of Commerce of the Eastbay on Wednesday.

Perasso, in that capacity, appeared with a delegation of well-known Italians of this area to ask permission of the legislature to make a good will tour of Italy this year.

The Italian Chamber plans to make the visit in the interest of trade relations between Italy and America. They will boost products grown and made in California.

After beseeching their application the legislature took only a few brief minutes to approve the good will junket.

Perasso told the club that although he will not make the trip to Italy, he believed that the trip will be of much benefit to both California and Italy.

His talk was of the utmost interest to the club members. During the business meeting plans were discussed for a dance to be held next Saturday night by the club for members and their families. There will be refreshments.

D. Roberto presided over the business meeting.

INVASION OF JEHOI MADE THE TARGET BY JAPANESE

PEIPING, China (Thursday) Jan. 24.—UP—Chinese troops, offering a stubborn defense, today awaited renewal of a Japanese military drive that has carried over the border of Jehol province and into remote China's latest apparent objective in Japan's north China expansion.

Reinforcements joined the 1000 Japanese and 1000 Manchukuoan troops engaged in the reported thrust at 10:30 P. M. Wednesday. Chinese sources said the advancing battalions apparently were prepared to continue their forward thrust this morning.

CENSORED NEWS
Details of the fighting engagement reported were unavailable. A strict censorship had been established on all official messages.

Chinese government officials confirmed reports that fighting had started at 6 P. M. Tuesday, however, Colonel Takahashi, Japanese military attaché at Peiping, likewise continued the reports.

JAPS ADVANCE

The Japanese forces include 30 armored cars, planes and artillery detachments. Planes bombed the towns of Tunchiehshun, Tushikou and Koyuan Wednesday, according to the reports, and 40 shells were fired against a Chinese garrison at Tushikou.

Mrs. Bessie Blume Of San Pablo Is Taken By Death

Funeral services will be held from St. Paul's church at 9:30 Friday morning for the late Mrs. Bessie Blume, of San Pablo, who died at her home in San Pablo early yesterday morning. Deceased was 57 years of age and was a native of County Wexford, Ireland. The cortege will leave the Ryan Funeral Home at 9 o'clock. Rosary will be said at 8 o'clock this evening.

Surviving are her husband, William B. Blume; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Porter of Grass Valley and Mrs. Kate Duarte of San Pablo; a brother, Nicholas Kavanaugh of Bakersfield; and two aunts, Mrs. Annie McQuillan of Phoebe, and Mrs. Marie Maier of San Francisco.

Deceased had lived in San Pablo for the past 50 years and in the United States for the past 55 years.

San Francisco Woman Is Dead

Clara Amandola, 826 Turk street, San Francisco, died at a hospital in San Francisco yesterday. Deceased was a native of Sheboygan, Wis., and was 25 years of age. She leaves her husband, Peter, and the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Ann Williams, Mrs. Alma Ward, Mrs. Emma Abart, Alex Marty all of Richmond.

Funeral services will be held at the Ryan Funeral Home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Cremation will be at Berkeley.

TAX BUDGET THE TARGET OF CRITICISM

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23.—UP—With Governor Frank F. Merriam's budget recommendations before them, legislators tonight were preparing a last-minute rush of bills, pointing toward adjournment January 26 for the constitutional recess.

The administration budget bill was introduced in both Houses against a background of varied comment. While Senator Cuthbert L. Olson, Los Angeles Democrat, objected to the administration program as "unfavorable to the masses," the upper House, as a whole was favorable to the plan.

ASSEMBLY CRITICAL
Sentiment in the Assembly was more critical, with evident opposition to the proposed increase in the sales tax rate, consumer's tax and the amusement levy.

MONEY FOR CVW PROJECT

With the introduction of the budget bill, the Senate took action on the first major appropriation measure when it approved a bill providing $50,000 to carry on necessary work looking toward the allocation of federal funds to finance the $170,000,000 Central Valley Water Project.

Senator Bert B. Snyder, Santa Cruz, cast the only vote against the appropriation. The bill now goes to the Assembly.

WILL STOP CLOCK

Final action on the resolution to adjourn January 26 was taken by the Assembly but at the same time leaders pointed out it probably would be necessary to "stop the clock" to give all an opportunity to introduce bills. A week-end session of the legislature was anticipated before recess actually was taken.

Steger Sanitary Project Planned By SERA Offices

Repairs and improvements to the sewer system and appurtenances at Steger Sanitary district will be started in the very near future, was the announcement yesterday made by Glenn M. Stout, district SERA director.

The approved project calls for an expenditure of $5,425.00 and the work relief employment of 33 men. This work has been considered necessary for some time, and the specifications include a new bulkhead, a check dam in front of the overflow gate for drainage, new drain pipes, and the cleaning out, straightening and deepening of the drainage ditches in the low lands, and the replacing of old and vitrified sewer pipe with new 8 inch steel pipe. Three months is the time considered necessary to complete the job.

CANNED BEETS FATAL

TRINIDAD, Colo., Jan. 23.—Two children were dead today and the mother and one other child were critically ill from what physicians said was botulism, caused by eating home-preserved beets. All but one member of the family of Hugh Brown, farmer, were stricken.

Baer To Press
"Hold-Out" Suits

OAKLAND, Jan. 23.—Trial of a long pending suit of Max Baer against his former manager, J. Hamilton Lorimer, in which he seeks to recover $20,000, which he declares Lorimer "held out on him," was asked today by Baer's attorney.

In his complaint, which was filed two years ago, Baer cites an agreement entered into in October, 1930, with Lorimer, under which Anell Hoffman was to be made co-manager, on payment of $5000 to Baer for the privilege, in return for which Hoffman was to share with Lorimer 50 percent of Baer's earnings in the prize ring.

Baer charges that Lorimer actually collected $25,000 from Hoffman, but turned over to Baer only the $5000 originally agreed upon. He is asking the court to compel Lorimer to pay him the remainder.

No previous action toward bringing the case to trial had been taken since it was filed in 1932. Trial probably will be in about three months.

Mooney Holds
Sanguine View

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Jan. 23.—UP—Tom Mooney, at first bitterly disappointed by refusal of the U. S. Supreme court to grant him a writ of habeas corpus, took a more optimistic view of the opinion today, his attorneys reported.

"Mooney feels that the Supreme court has expressed the most forward-looking opinion yet advanced on his case," said George Davis, of the Mooney counsel.

Davis said that he and other attorneys interested in the Mooney case would not be prepared to take any further action "for a week or 10 days." He said daily conferences were being held, however, to determine the best course to be followed.

Marauding Nomads
Shake Off Pursuit

DUBOULT, French Somaliland, Jan. 23.—UP—A nomad tribe of 860 Assalmaras tribesmen who massacred French Administrator Albert Bernard and 104 natives on the border, has succeeded in shaking off pursuit, the authorities reported tonight.

The nomads fled over the frontier into Abyssinia, where they scattered in the Korbell mountains. The French militia cannot pursue them over the line, and there are no Abyssinian troops available.

MUSIC THEIR DOWNFALL

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 23.—Two Mexican youths, who allegedly slugged a wandering musician and stole his accordion couldn't resist the temptation to play it before they made a safe getaway. Pursuing officers heard the wild strains of "La Cucaracha" floating down the breeze and stopped to investigate. They found Gilbert Romero and Adolph Moreno hidden in the brush, warmed by good wine and singing and playing lustily.

clear. Thousands of commuters crowded hotels fearing to venture into the suburbs.

Harbor traffic was nearly at a standstill. Many outbound vessels consist in 54 below at Danbury in 1922.

Suffering was intense.

NORTH IS SAVED
Rainfall slackened and temperatures went down in many parts of the Pacific Northwest, abating floods and permitting some lowland residents to return to their damaged dwellings.

In many sections of western Washington flood waters had not yet reached their crest, but were rising but slowly and appeared near the turn.

FAMILIES FLEE
It was estimated that at least 1000 families in the Leays Harbor, Bellingham and Centralia areas were evacuated during the height of the storm.

Rail, highway, telephone and telegraph services remained entirely or partially disrupted throughout Washington and in the coastal region of Oregon.

MERCURY DOWN
As the mercury slid down and halted the heavy run-off of snow, ice formed over wide areas between Vancouver, B. C., and Seattle, and around Bellingham. This "silver thaw" broke communication wires in dozens of places.

United Press leased wires and long distance telephone remained the only contacts of Vancouver, B. C., with the outside world except for shipping.

HIGHWAYS HIT
Most major highways in western Washington were either inundated or blocked by slides. Coast highway traffic was stopped by a slide near Wheeler, Ore. Olympia, Wash., was surrounded by water. Railroad service was disrupted in the Spokane area of eastern Washington by slides and washouts. A blizzard drifted snow so high that Farmington, Wash., was isolated.

A herd of 75 elk, driven out of the mountains by deep snow, ranged through the Antone and Hansen ferry districts near Clarkston, Wash., breaking fences, eating hay and other feed stored for domestic animals. Farmers appealed to the game commission for protection.

MIDWEST STRICKEN
The midwest was gripped by its most intense cold of a generation Wednesday night. Forecasts promised no relief.

The northern Wisconsin village of Frederic reported 75 degrees below zero at 3 P. M. CST. The all time official record for Wisconsin is 54 below at Danbury in 1922.

ROSS-KLICK WILL CLASH AT MIAMI TONIGHT

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23.—UP—Tomorrow night, when the clock strikes 10, two earnest fighters will climb through the ropes at Miami's municipal stadium and endeavor to knock one another's heads into beautiful Biscayne Bay all for the sake of a worthless title. The foolish young men are Barney Ross of Chicago and Frankie Klick, a tough "rent from Frisco" famed "south of the slot" sector.

TITLE AT STAKE
The worthless prize is the title that masquerades under the high sounding name of junior welterweight championship of the world. It is a sort of near beer title that everybody wants but the man who owns it.

USELESS BAUBLE
It now belongs to Ross, who picked it up unawares while winning the lightweight championship from Tony Canzoneri. Canzoneri said afterwards his chief consolation for the loss of his lightweight title was that the junior welterweight business went with it.

Of course, Ross and Klick will make a little money. Unless promoter Mike Jacobs has joined the Optimistic club or is making a belated entry in the Lion's Club tournament, the stadium's 20,000 seats all will be occupied when Ross and Klick tee off.

BAERS TO PERFORM
In addition to the lightweight champ, the card will show the performing Baers—heavyweight champion of the world, Max, and charming knock-kneed Buddy — and two prime challengers for the light heavyweight title, Joe Knight and Tony Shucro.

The big Baer, meaning Max, will box a four round exhibition with Jimmy Maloney, one time Boston fish peddler and now a traffic cop at one of Miami's busiest corners.

Buddy will go six rounds with Frank Davenport of Chicago. Davenport figures to last one round — which will make him one up on Maloney, who has trouble stemming Sunday morning traffic.

BOTH CLAIM VICTORY
Much to the surprise of nobody, both Ross and Klick are claiming easy victories for themselves. Ross says he can outbox and outlast the Californian, and will do so from the first bell until the last, and he figures he'll stop Frankie sometime between the fourth and eighth.

Klick, who has been sparring with coonants for the past two days ("I wore out my sparring partners and coonants was the toughest thing I could find to hit") holds the champion in fine contempt.

Five Under Knife At

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—UP—Internal revenue collections during the present fiscal year have soared to $1,674,000,000, which is $248,128,000 more than for the same period last year, the treasury reported tonight.

DRIVE BRINGS COIN

Under the tax collection drive of Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., the treasury reported tonight that miscellaneous internal revenue and farm processing tax collections have reached a new all-time high since July 1, 1934, when the fiscal year began.

These two classes of revenue totaled $241,000,000 in the drive for revenues to offset partly the huge Federal recovery spending program. Income tax collection have been boosted to $1,831,000, considerably above the $338,391,563 for same period last year.

EXPENDITURES INCREASE

Despite increased collections from all sources, government expenditures for the year have reached $3,885,000,000, almost $500,000,000 ahead of the same period last year, and piled up a larger deficit.

A detailed statement on internal revenue collections showed the treasury collected $338,784,921 from these sources during December, $144,666,291 ahead of November and $31,353,409 above December, 1933.

Income, farm processing, and liquor taxes furnished the bulk of income for the month.

DEFICIT STILL REMAINS

Increase internal revenue collections have boosted the Federal Government's total income thus far in the fiscal year to $2,006,296,000 compared with $1,624,535,520 last year, putting the deficit at $1,878,739,000 compared with $1,699,276,000 last year.

El Cerrito News

EL CERRITO, Jan. 23.—Players to make up twenty-three tables enjoyed the benefit whist at St. John's Parish hall Tuesday evening. Mrs. E. R. Guinan was in charge of the games. The door prize was won by John Gallagher and the special prize by Mrs. M. Gately.

High whist scores were held by Mrs. Ira Vaughn, Mrs. Jack McGrath, Mrs. McLaughlin, Miss Mary Curtis, Mrs. Jepson, Mrs. D. J. Collins, Mrs. C. Malloy, E. H. S. Itz, Dennis McCarthy, J. Crough, Mrs. Florence Evans, Wm. Sharkey, Mrs. M. Glynn, J. R. White, Mrs. K. Peralsky, Lena Regalia, Minnie Knight, Margaret Plutchak, Ruth Olds, Wm. F. Hillman, Mary Rodin and Mrs. Anthony Hannon.

The Catholic Ladies Aid will give a benefit whist at the Parish hall on February 1.

DISCUSS BONUS

The Veterans of Foreign Wars held a social meeting at Memorial hall Tuesday evening with Commander Brock presiding and a fairly good attendance. Interesting talks on the va's bonus were made by Wm. Huber, and Ira Scott. At the close of the meeting the members and guests repaired to the Boy Barbecue, where refreshments were served.

The V. F. W. holds two meetings each month. On the second Tuesday there is a closed meeting for members only. On each fourth Tuesday there is a social session open to the public. Most of the activity at present centers around the soldiers' bonus propaganda.

SEEING THE WORLD

A very self-reliant small boy, aged 5, left his home at 858 Station Place, near Thousand Oaks, Wednesday morning to walk to the Ford factory in Richmond to see his father, he said. His resources were excellent.

Timely Styles In Clothing To Be Meet Subject

"Timely Styles in Clothing" is to be the subject for an all-day meeting to be attended by Farm Home Department women from Alameda and Contra Costa counties on Friday, January 25th, at the Hall of Records at Martinez, according to an announcement just received from Helga Burling, home demonstration agent.

The meeting will be in charge of Miss Ethelwyn Dodson, extension specialist in clothing, of the Agricultural Extension Service, University of California. Miss Dodson will discuss with the project leaders the modern trends in textiles which will include a study of cotton, rayon, cellophane, and other fabrics suitable for spring dresses.

The alteration and use of various patterns for those doing sewing at home will be discussed. Methods for making attractive finishes, such as buttonholes, plackets, bindings, etc., will be demonstrated during the day.

The meeting will be attended by more than 35 women, and will include Mrs. Maryetta Holman, home demonstration agent of Alameda county, Miss Ruby Flowers, home demonstration agent of Napa county, as well as the local home demonstration agent, Miss Helen Burling.

Alstrom Loses Job But Gets It Back Again

Arthur A. Alstrom of Richmond, who was relieved of his post as superintendent of the fresh fish marketing division of the state fish and game commission, during the recent shakeup of the Merriam administration, is back at the old job.

Merriam appointed a Southern California man to the fish marketing job, but, according to the story, the appointee found he was not qualified for the job and decided to retire. Alstrom and several others took the civil service examination and Alstrom was re-appointed to the post he had so recently relinquished.

Alstrom was once constable at Richmond and later justice of the peace.

Union Is Accused Of Promoting Arson

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 23.—The Sheep Shearers' Union today was accused of providing money to finance a campaign of arsonist terrorism in the Dixon and Woodland districts during a recent strike in sheep raising areas of northern California.

The accusation was made by Mrs. Nellie B. Shepard, who was called as a witness in the trial of three men charged with arson in connection with a series of fires which destroyed barns in which shearing equipment was housed.

Mrs. Shepard asserted the union had attempted to hire her husband to set fire to several sheds in the vicinity of Dixon.

Loren Jay (Buddy) Preston, 6, will be restored to his pony and his dog at his father's home in Seattle.

Dismissing Mrs. Edna Preston a suit for custody of the boy, Superior Judge Leon R. Yankwich decreed he should remain in the permanent custody of his father, Don Carlos Preston, Seattle businessman. The Prestons were divorced last April.

ACTION PUTS THIS PORT AT DISADVANTAGE

Richmond will have to actively oppose the recent action of coastwise steamship lines in placing the city among the irregular ports of the Pacific coast, according to decision of the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting yesterday.

AT DISADVANTAGE

The Pacific coast conference has voted to place Richmond in the category of ports at which ships will call only when 150 tons of cargo is available, an action which places the local port at a serious disadvantage in soliciting business.

It was said by Fred D. Parr, T. Emmet Ward, W. W. Scott, and other speakers at yesterday's meeting.

WILL FILE PROTEST

The Pacific committee, of which Scott is chairman, recommended that there should be a protest filed with the shipping companies by the Chamber of Commerce, the municipality of Richmond and the Chamber of Commerce, and that if this fails to accomplish results a formal action should be filed with the U. S. Shipping Board to restrain the companies from putting the tariff into effect at the prescribed time.

February 12, City Attorney T. M. Carlson was engaged to handle the legal work in connection with the action.

COST SHIPPERS MORE

Word said Richmond and Contra Costa county shippers are raising to the accession and taking an immense interest in the developments, inasmuch as the change will cost local shippers a higher amount per ton if service should be curtailed or destroyed at the port of Richmond, necessitating sending cargo to Richmond or San Francisco for movement by ship.

The argument was advanced that if the 100-ton minimum is set up by the Pacific coast conference, the same action might be eventually taken by the European conference, to the great detriment of Richmond.

OBJECT TO DISCONTINUANCE

President P. M. Sanford will confer with officials of the Southern Pacific Golden Gate Ferry company regarding the discontinuance of service to San Francisco, and the Chamber will join officially with the municipality in protesting the move before the State Railroad Commission.

WANT COMMERCIAL CENSUS

Sanford, Fred Newsom, T. M. Carlson and Chamber leaders from Pittsburg and Martinez will visit the supervisors regarding the SERRA project to compile a census of manufacturing and shipping in the county.

President Resents Any Curb On Power

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Flat opposition to the proposal of Senator Norris, R., Neb., that a two-thirds Senate vote be required on any proposition affecting this country to be submitted to the World Court was expressed today by President Roosevelt.

At his press conference the President said he regarded the proposal as a definite limitation of the constitutional prerogatives of the President.

As for other proposed restrictions to the World Court pending in the Senate, the President offered no comment.

Proposal Awaits Stone's Daughter

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.—UP—Paula Stone, Fred Stone's daughter, is going to receive a proposal of marriage from a childhood sweetheart when he arrives in Hollywood next week. It was learned today.

Henry Wilson, Hollywood actor's agent, who used to live next door to the Stones in Forest Hills, N. Y., admitted he was planning to "pop the question" as soon as he saw Paula.

BIG BILL FOR LADIES' CHINA NIGHT AT FOX

Tonight brings a double program for Ladies' China Night in a program headed by "Romance in Manhattan" which stars Ginger Rogers of "Gay Divorcee" fame and Francis Lederer.

"I Am a Thief" a thrilling mystery play with Ricardo Cortez, Mary Astor, Dudley Digges and Hobart Cavanaugh, is the extra feature. The special feature for the ladies lies in the fact that tonight they may choose their piece of China.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE TOMORROW
Tomorrow will bring another double program headed by Shirley Temple in "Bright Eyes." The little star's success in this film was so great that the repeated request of thousands of fans forced a return engagement of this picture which all agree is the finest triumph the darling of the screen has had since her entry into motion pictures. Jimmie Dunn plays opposite the star in a story that is replete with laughter and pathos, romance and excitement.

CONGRESS TALK
Visitors to the Capitol are thronging the Senate galleries these days to see the big show, but many turn away bewildered and disappointed.

And here are typical comments showing why:
"Seemed like they were tending to their own business but not to the speaker."
"I've heard the House of Representatives, and I expected to hear more eloquence in the Senate department, but I didn't."
"I didn't listen much. Huey Long was walking all around the floor, and I was watching him."
"Reminds me of what we used to do back in school days—anything but listen to the teacher."
"I was there ten minutes and I didn't hear Huey Long."
"A lot of kidz."
"I guess they haven't got started yet."
"I wonder how they make our laws if they don't pay any more attention than that?"

LABOR VICTORY
There is one provision in the Administration's omnibus social security bill where the hand of organized labor guided the drafting pen.

This section is in the unemployment insurance portion of the measure.

It provides that no worker shall be disqualified from receiving benefits "because he participates in a strike, refuses to take work at standards below those prevailing in the locality, or because he refuses to join a company union or insists upon joining the labor union of his own choosing."

Old Guards in the inner council objected to this wording, wanted it made less specific.

But Senator Wagner, labor champion and titular author of the bill, insisted on the provision.

It is certain to be challenged vigorously by employer groups and its backers expect it to be one of the chief battle grounds of the social security legislation.

ONLY A CONGRESSMAN
When New Mexico's sole Congressman came to Washington he got a welcome that was a surprise to him. He registered at the Hotel Washington, went up to his room, disrobed and got into the tub for a bath.

A knock came at the door. It was a bell-boy offering to take the gentleman's clothes to be pressed. Soon another knock. A news photographer. Presently two more arrivals—newsmen asking for an interview.

In desperation the Congressman picked up the telephone.

"Look here, Mr. Manager, I want to be let alone. What's the reason for all this disturbance, anyhow?"

Then the explanation came.

"Sorry, Mr. Dempsey. I've just discovered it myself. You see, the name 'Jack Dempsey' is a bit misleading, and when the boys saw it on the register, they thought it was THE Jack Dempsey."

"No, no, I'm only a Congressman," was the reply.

WARPATH
Secretary George H. Dern is on the warpath.

The old War Department executive is a slow starter. But when his dander is aroused he is a dogged fighter.

And his fire has been touched to the quick.

The reason is some secret inner Administration sniping at his protégé, Senior Assistant Attorney General Harold M. Stephens.

A New England born and educated Utahian, Stephens is head of the anti-trust division of the Justice Department and one of its ablest and most liberal lawyers.

Because of his outstanding ability and the known fact that he is highly regarded by members of the Supreme Court, Attorney General Cummings designated Stephens.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Government attorneys admit privately that there is one vulnerable point in their defense of the constitutionality of the gold clause.

This is the fact that Congress delegated to the President the power to manipulate the value of the dollar.

The authority of Congress, to make changes in the monetary unit, they assert, is beyond question. The Constitution expressly states that Congress shall have the power to "coin money and regulate the value thereof."

But whether it has the right to turn that power over to another branch of the Government is something else again.

The Administration contends that it has, but its legal jousts concede privately that this point is the Achilles heel of their case.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—When the first heavy fall of snow comes
New York will be prepared to meet it.

For weeks the snow removal bureau of the Department of Sanitation has been charting the city, and at an hour's notice can mobilize an army of upward of 30,000 men, 14-600 of them being regular department employees who have had experience along this line of work.

The others will be emergency snow fighters. With the main force will be available 1,500 trucks converted to snow removal use.

New York owns more than $1-250,000 worth of snow fighting equipment. This has been repaired and painted in the off season and is now ready for a call night or day. There are 5,500 miles of streets in the city and, while many of them do not get direct attention, they are made possible, while the main thoroughfares are opened for traffic. The memory of last winter's hardships has caused the headman of the department, C. Thomas Hammond, to chart his job with great care. He has raised the districts from seven to fifteen, which he is sure will result in greater efficiency.

IT IS NOT alone the snow that causes trouble in great areas such as are occupied by New York.

The Board of Health, the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity and other departments, as well as railroads that operate in and out of the city, have their problems. When the temperature drops it is up to the water department to see to it that dead-end water mains in the out-lying districts do not freeze. With such vigilance only can householders be assured of a supply of water. Free-flowing drains must be maintained throughout the system even to the extent of keeping some of the exposed mains warmed by fire or covering with hair felt.

The Department of Plant and Structures has a corps of inspectors watching the steel bones of the bridges, for these contract as much as three feet under the influence of low temperatures. The sliding joints must be kept greased and the roadways kept open so that traffic may not become congested, thereby adding loads at given points.

THE railroads really have the great problems, particularly those whose business is in large community zones. Suburban centers have developed through electrification of railways, but they are open to the ravages of great storms. Heavy trains may push through snow drifts but the lighter ones run into trouble. It costs the railroads hundreds of thousands of dollars to anticipate a cold and snowy winter.
Switches and crossovers over miles of track are warmed by electric heaters that are buried in the road bed each fall. There are 8,000 of these heaters on the New York Central along the main line as far as Hudson and on the Westchester route as far as White Plains.

Several hundred of these electric heaters, numerous gas heaters, and in freight yards, "oil pots" are ready for duty at signal. Elsewhere

Patricia Burke, an American girl stranded in Rome, goes to the village of Marveto to apply for the job of governess for the Countess Dei Sari's little boy.
She meets a young American,
Dirk Waters, who tells her that Count Dei Sari and his son have a previous marriage. Sergio, an up to some "dirty work." He says he is in Marveto to investigate, and asks Pat to help him.
The Count engages Pat as governess, but forbids her to see Dirk again. Dirk, however, arranges for a secret rendezvous with her. At midnight of her first day at the Dei Sari castle, Dirk when she is halted by a terrifying scream.

CHAPTER XX
FOR long afterwards, in her dreams, Pat was to hear that scream again. Whether it had come from a man or a woman, she could not tell.
She was sure of only one thing: that it was a cry of terror and pain. She heard it just once, and then all was silent.

It seemed to her that hours passed while she stood, paralyzed with fear, in the shadow of the stairs. Then, at last some reason returned to her, and she realized that she couldn't stand there all night, nor could she go out to meet Dirk—no, not now. Only one thing was foremost in her mind.
She must get back to her room—
and without being discovered!

She started slowly up the stairs,
her legs trembling. To her relief, the upper corridor was still in darkness and she hastened along it, her stocking feet making no noise.

Back in her room at last, she locked the door and flung herself onto the bed. Gradually she became calm and, undressing, crept between the sheets. Sleep, however, was quite impossible in her present excited state, and she was awake for hours, thinking
Who had screamed, and why?
The question was terrifying, and
she tossed restlessly.

She did come to one conclusion, however. Her arranged rendezvous with Dirk were out of the question. If the little side door was guarded, the other exits would also be without doubt, because, but were these precautions taken against her or against someone else in the castle? Or were they precautions against intruders from without?

IT WAS almost dawn before she fell asleep and, in no time at all, her alarm clock's shrill ringing had shocked her awake again.
Nervous and tired, she crept out of bed. But after dashing cold water on her face, she felt partially refreshed and, by the time she was ready to go to Peter's room, her natural vitality had returned.

Her morning duties succeeded to some extent in distracting her thoughts from last night's adventure. While she was walking with the child in the garden, she found herself wondering if it would not be possible for her to slip out to the cavern during the day and leave a note for Dirk, explaining that their plans to meet were impractical and that she would keep him posted by letter, when possible.

She was still weighing this possibility in her mind when she returned to the nursery for her morning lessons. The child was quick at grasping what she taught him, and the time passed less tediously than she had expected.
After the books had been put away, and a servant had brought their lunch, Pat struggled again with the problem of whether or not she could communicate safely with Dirk. Little Peter might be able to give her some information, but she didn't know quite what to ask him.

W. O. M. GROUP HEARS REPORT ON MEETINGS

Richmond Chapter, Women of the Moose, met last night in Woodmen hall at Seventh street and Macdonald avenue with Marion Nelson, senior regent, in the chair.

Balloting on a class of candidates was held and reports were heard on the district meeting held in San Francisco recently. Marie Lee Kelly made the report.

Daisy Mayo reported on the whist party held at her home recently and the library committee, headed by Theresa Larsen, reported sending books to the public library and to Mooseheart.

An interesting report was heard on the meeting held recently in Sacramento.

Miss Claire Barry will entertain members of the Community Service club on February 5 and the past Regent's Alumni Association will meet in Martinez on this Wednesday.

Refreshments were served by Marion Nelson, Marie Lee Kelly and Claire Barry. Whist was played. Mab Alger, Mrs. Barry, Daisy Mayo and Laura Lindero won prizes.

NUI CLUB TO PAY HONOR TO PAST OFFICERS

Members of the Nui Club will be entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. Merriam Williams at 620 Thirtieth street. Hazel Sears will be co-hostess.

This will be the first meeting under the new officers and at this time the club will pay honor to Mrs. Wilma Stewart and Mrs. Alice Moorhead, the past president and past secretary.

A jolly social time is anticipated. Refreshments will be served by the hostess.

Whats Doing Here Today

C. C. TEMPLE SEWING CLUB ENJOYS MEET

Mrs. Florence Tosh was hostess at her home on Twenty-sixth street yesterday to members of the sewing club of Contra Costa Temple of Pythian Sisters.

Election of officers featured the meeting. Mrs. Lucille Deane was elected president; Mrs. Gertrude Smith, vice president; Mrs. Tosh, secretary and Mrs. Maude Grace and Mrs. Anna Sawyer, trustees.

A social afternoon was enjoyed by the ladies. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Gertrude Smith at No. 42 Nineteenth street on February 13.

WESLEY AID IN PLANS FOR COMING EVENTS

Coming events were planned yesterday when the Central Ladies Aid Society of the Wesley Methodist church held its meeting at the church parlors. Mrs. Annie Hampton, the president, presided.

On February 21 the group will entertain at an old-fashioned, southern style dinner at the church. Mrs. Bertha Martin and Mrs. Agnes Brown will be in charge.

A calendar dinner will be held by the ladies in May, with all circles taking part in the affair. Circle No. 4 acted as hostess yesterday. Mrs. Vera Kates is president. A social was enjoyed.

TAHOE GROUP HAS ADOPTION OF CANDIDATES

Adoption of a class of candidates was held last night by the Tahoe Council, Degree of Pocahontas at the Richmond clubhouse. Pearl Smith presided.

At the business meeting it was decided that a whist party would be held at the home of Mrs. Anna Brooks of 1432 Liberty street on Friday night. Daisy Fray, June Hunt and Pearl Smith were on the social committee for the evening.

GRANT P. T. A. ENTERTAINED WITH PROGRAM

Grant P. T. A. is the first local unit to have a plaque. The plaque and P. T. A. emblem, which is the study oak tree made of decorative plaster, on a round piece of veneer board, done in light blue and gold colors, was made by Mrs. H. E. Cecil. Grant publicized, chairman and presented to the Grant P. T. A. at their social meeting yesterday afternoon by Mrs. K. A. Roberts, Council P. T. A. president.

Other events of the afternoon were a safety first place play given by Miss Helen Dozier's room, stressing careless manners of children and how to avoid accidents.

The next number was a military dance given by Florence McVittie, Irma Leece and Phyllis Hamm, accompanied by Laverne Oliver. The third feature was an interesting talk by Mrs. F. W. Ryan, council membership chairman, telling how to build up membership in P. T. A.

Col. C. H. Thompson, director of the Berkeley Traffic Safety Commission was speaker of the day. He stated in his address that the United States leads all other countries in traffic accidents, lynchings and kidnappings. He declared that good judgment and self confidence was a good means of avoiding accidents.

Announcement was made of the first of a series of dessert bakes and whist parties to be held by the P. T. A. at the home of Mrs. Bert Hall, 2037 Garvin avenue on Wednesday, January 30, at 7:30 P. M. Reservations may be made by calling Richmond 2011W.

Tea was served at the conclusion of the program by Mrs. James Towers, Jr., Mrs. Robert Macfie, Mrs. Gladys Kruger, Mrs. Dan Bradley. The program was arranged by Mrs. Bert Hall. President Mrs. R. L. Elston presided.

ZEPHYR LODGE ENTERTAINED WITH SOCIAL

The first meeting under the new officers was held last night by the Zephyr Lodge of Rebekahs at the Odd Fellows hall. Dorothy Penning, the noble grand, presided.

Plans were discussed for the annual Valentine dance, which will be held on February 13. Mildred Kitchen heads the committee in charge.

A social evening was enjoyed last night. Dutch whist was played. On the committee for the evening were: Claire Willis, Dorothy Penning, Mildred Kitchen, Mary Bergstrom and Agnes Mortenson. Refreshments were served by Dorothy Penning, Elizabeth Paasch, Hazel Rodas, Mildred Patch, Jack Patch, Anna Pressler and Carrol Ann Upman.

Debs Turn Messenger Boys to Help Million Americans Say Happy Birthday to Roosevelt

With New England fishermen, western cowpunchers, northern lumberjacks and seafaring metropolitan business men joining hands to stage Birthday Balls for the President in more than 5,000 cities and towns on January 30, the debutantes are doing their bit by turning messenger boys to help a million Americans say happy birthday to Mr. Roosevelt and thereby aid in the drive to raise funds to fight infantile paralysis. It's all made possible by a plan under which the

Bandits Swoop Down On Town And Loot Stores

PITNEY, Jan. 23.—UP—Three bandits roamed into town last night, guns flashing, and gave this highway community the busiest few hours since the cotton strike riots of 1933.

Constable Delos O. Howard kept the state police telephone just as busy today itemizing for other officers the articles the robbers took in looting some of the town's leading business establishments.

First, they swooped on a garage, where they cleaned it out of tools and spark plugs.

A candy store was next. It was relieved of a majority of its stock of candy and nuts. Police advised a return of "old time" banditry when the proprietor informed them the robbers also took all his chewing tobacco.

A grocery store was looted next. An attempt to blow the store safe was unsuccessful.

About that time a milk wagon driver appeared and wanted to know what the men were doing. They answered him with gunfire and he fled.

After robbing a cafe of a case of gin, a case of whiskey, a shotgun and other articles, the trio speeded away down the highway.

Guardians Named For Student Paper

BERKELEY, Jan. 23.—UP—Pelican University of California humored monthly, today bowed its head as five "guardians" were appointed to endeavor to keep it from being a naughty campus child.

The guardians will not be censors, insists Alex Hildebrand, chairman of the student affairs committee, and Alden W. Smith, president of the student body. It will be merely their duty to "advise" Editor Bob Meltzer and members of his staff as to "what's fit" to print, the student head says.

now take a microscope to discover; if we want a home, then on the transaction we must dig up one percent of the sale price; the banks and trust companies' franchise tax is increased from two to four percent; beer is to be loaded with an additional one cent tax per gallon and whiskey must disgorge 40 cents per gallon; if the admission ticket to any amusement is over 20 cents then a cent on each ten cents comes munching in to smite us in the face; the sale tax is to be hoisted from two to three cents on the dollar.

Some of these levies are not so bad, but when it comes to adding another cent a gallon to gasoline and a consumers' tax of three percent on gas, electricity, phone and other utility services it seems to me that the governor is going just a little bit too far and is likely to experience a smart kick-back.

Terror Inciters Are Given Terms In Prison Camp

MOSCOW, Jan. 23.—UP—The military collegium of the Supreme court tonight sentenced Fedor Medved, chief of the Leningrad Interior Ministry office, and 11 assistants to concentration camps for "criminal carelessness" in failing to prevent the assassination of Sergei Maronovich Kirov, political bureau leader, last month.

Medved and his aides also were accused of failure to break up the so-called "Leningrad Center," a terrorist organization. They admitted their guilt.

The longest term, 10 years, was given M. K. Baltsevich, held directly responsible for permitting terrorism. Medved and four others were given three years and the others two years each.

One Killed In Railroad Wreck

WOODBIDGE, N. J., Jan. 23.—UP—An engineer was killed and three trainmen injured tonight when engines on the Pennsylvania and New Jersey Central railroads were derailed at almost the same time.

Harry Seip, engineer of a Central Point Pleasant to Jersey City, passenger train, was killed when his engine, apparently striking an open switch near the West Carteret station, crashed into a signal tower and plunked down a 25-foot embankment. The four coaches remained on the track as the engine tore loose from them.

The engineer, fireman and brakemen of the P. R. R. train were cut and scalded when the engine and tender were derailed and toppled over near the station here.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 18.—The Senate today approved a resolution by Senator Gorman, San Francisco asking permission of the government for extension of Funston avenue to the Presidio of San Francisco, as an approach for the Golden Gate bridge and retrocession by Congress of Federal jurisdiction over the rights of way and toll areas, as located.

ANCIENT GAS BUGGY

KENTON, O.—UP—D. F. Stokes, farmer, has bought 1935 automobile license plates so that he can drive his 1914 car during the new year. The new tags made the 22nd yearly set he has bought for the machine during that many years' service.

Charges are Moderate

It is well to remember that a beautiful mortuary does not mean high prices, as this firm proves. With all the refinements and comforts to be found here, charges are never higher than the smallest incomes can easily afford. By including everything in one plainly marked price, we have made it possible for every family to make an appropriate selection without financial hardship.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Every Family Should Have a List of the Household Poisons and What To Do For Them

MANY of the cleansing preparations about the home are perfectly harmless, when properly used, but when taken internally by accident or design they are deadly.

and the local and general effects are very serious. It is caustic and burns any moist surface with which it comes in contact.

Many a child's mouth, throat, and stomach are so severely burned that even though they do not die, strictures of the esophagus or gullet result, and they cannot swallow food or drink and have to be fed through a tube from the outside.

Treatment must be given quickly to prevent this so the remedies should be remembered at all times. Give acids, vinegar, lemon or orange juice in water, milk, gelatin or oil or butter to protect the mucous membrane. Then send for the doctor.

Phosphorus is present in match heads and rat poisoning. It leaves a small like phosphorus or garlic on the breath. There is a burning pain in the stomach with vomiting of blood. Give magnesium or lime water, powdered charcoal, old turpentine, but no oils or fats, as they dissolve phosphorus and hasten its absorption.

MANY household remedies are poisonous when taken in overdoses or by children. Headache tablets contain some coal tar products. Patient's lips and skin become blue, and breathing shallow. Use stimulants, apply heat, give belladonna or nuxvomica if you have it. Apply artificial respiration and get to fresh air.

Strychnine or nuxvomica are present in many of the laxative pills or tablets and one or two of these may be fatal to a child. Give tannic acid, the most common form of which is strong tea, or a weak solution of iodine. Many medicine cabinets contain permanganate of potash, of which a large dose, 1/4 teaspoonful in water, may save your child's life.

Opium in some forms, such as morphine, codeine, laudanum and most of the paracetamol children is the cause of an untold number of deaths. Paracetamol is carelessly given to children for colic, and to make them sleep. Many deaths are caused in this way.

The signs are deep sleep, slow breathing, cold and cyanotic skin. Empty the stomach if possible. Give tannic acid, (strong tea), stimulants, vinegar, lemon juice or strong coffee. Rub the skin vigorously, and breathing by artificial respiration. Walk on them up and keep them awake if possible and send for a physician.

MANY of the baby powders contain stearate of zinc, which causes serious choking if breathed into the throat and lungs. Never give the powder box to children to play with.

Chloroform is frequently found in liniments and swallowed by children. Give plenty of air, artificial breathing, strong coffee. Apply heat over the heart, slap with a wet towel.

Every family should keep a list of poisons and things to do for them, where it can be easily found and consulted. This is one place when time is the greatest element of safety. A few minutes may mean the difference between life and death, or severe local injury to the mouth and stomach. Do not hurry, but move and do whatever is to be done quickly.

Bitter salts and soda are helpful in many poisons. Lime can be scraped from a plastered wall. Tannic acid and caffeine are easily secured from tea and coffee. A little whisky or aromatic spirits of ammonia are quick acting and useful stimulants. "Be prepared," as the Boy Scouts say.

Guide to Charm HOLIDAY GALAS DEMAND HANDS BE ATTRACTIVE

By JACQUELINE HUNT

ARE you one of those women instantly to care, so two or three years ago, about this time of the year? Even though you ordinarily take little pride in your hands, the Christmas festivities that call for your prettiest gowns should also find your hands and arms soft, smooth and lovely. If they are not ready to be displayed to advantage right now, you had better put in several days of intensive beautifying treatments.

Fortunately the hands respond instantly to care, so two or three careful treatments will make a big difference. Begin by scrubbing hands, arms and elbows with a bland soap and a complexion brush. Scrub briskly so the horny, dead cells will be removed. If ordinary scrubbing isn't sufficient over the elbows and knuckles, use a small amount of powdered pumice over the rough areas.

Rinse thoroughly after cleansing and dry well. Then take a rich lubricating cream and massage thoroughly. Have a film over the hands, arms and tops of your shoulders, and beginning at the finger tips massage upward over arms and elbows, repeating until the circulation is thoroughly aroused and much of the cream has been absorbed.

Wipe off the excess cream and check up on the cuticles. During the winter it is a good idea to get the habit of supplementing your weekly manicure with soaking your finger tips in warm olive oil. Smooth off your finger-nails frequently with the fine side of the emery board and they will be less likely to split.

The skin at the sides of the finger-nails is apt to have little rough-edged callouses that call for attention. Sometimes these can be treated with cuticle softener and removed, but you may have to use sterner methods, especially if the callouses have developed over a period of time. Make a paste of olive oil and powdered pumice and smooth over the rough spots. Leave it on a few minutes, then scrub gently to remove the deadened skin. Be extra liberal in your application of cuticle oil or cream after this treatment.

After the massage treatment a bleaching cream or lemon juice may be applied to the hands and left on overnight. When your hands and arms are soft, white and well-groomed you can use the newest, boldest shades of nail polish, successfully. Lovely nails on lovely hands are like jewels, but on roughened, reddened hands they are conspicuous.

Have several shades of polish so you can change it with different gowns. And, of course, the latest thing now is to match your nail polish and lipstick. A well-known manufacturer sells both together. The lipsticks come in four shades—natural, coral, cardinal and ruby and is matched in nail polish of the same tones. The coral combination is lovely and conservative enough for almost anyone, while the ruby which is a rich, deep, pure red is gorgeous with black, white or silver.

Who Is Joseph Rank? He Is the Wealthiest Man in England—the Flour King

HOW does a wealthy man become wealthy? Some achieve dollars and fame along with a great fanfare of publicity, while others take quiet, almost silent, pathways. Joseph Rank is accounted the wealthiest man in England, and if you asked an Englishman who Joseph Rank was, he would look at you blankly and say: "I've never heard of such a person."

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "Can you give me the details of the salt pack? I have been advised to try it for excessive oiliness of the hair and scalp.—Mrs. P. E."

The salt pack for oily hair seems to give results, but I would advise you to use it with caution. In the first place it may leave your scalp very sore and irritated and in the second you can usually get the same results by other means if you are willing to work conscientiously. For the pack take a saucer of common table salt and moisten slightly. Apply to the entire scalp and through the hair and then massage thoroughly with the finger tips. Allow the salt to dry, then place a towel about your shoulders and brush vigorously. When most of the salt has been removed, shampoo the hair thoroughly using several applications of liquid soap and rinsing several times. The final rinse water might contain lemon juice or vinegar. Your hair will be soft and fluffy.

Tasty and Nourishing Dishes for Today Because Dish Is Inexpensive Does Not Affect Its Flavor

By JUDITH WILSON

HOMEMAKERS always welcome recipes for interesting main dishes, especially if they also happen to be inexpensive and easy to prepare. The dishes given above combine well with simple salads and desserts to make unusually attractive and well-balanced meals. Most of the food in the first menu is baked. If you wish you might also substitute a baked dessert like apple betty or cupcakes for the ice box cake.

Have your butcher cut a little more than a pound of round steak very thin. Cut the slice into six pieces and sprinkle well with salt and pepper. Roll up and tie with white string or hold together with toothpicks. Beat one egg well and add two tablespoons water. Dip each piece of beef into this and then into sifted dry bread crumbs. Press the crumbs into the meat so they will stay.

Melt four tablespoons fat in a heavy skillet or baking dish and brown the beef on all sides. Then add two tablespoons finely minced celery and four whole, medium sized onions and one-fourth cup of hot water. Cover tightly and bake slowly for one hour. At the same time scrub medium-sized potatoes and put into the oven to bake. This will serve four.

Graham Cracker Ice Box Cake Blend one cup graham cracker crumbs with one-fourth cup of melted butter and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Use a part of the mixture to line a lightly greased mold. For the filling, soak one-half tablespoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water. Make a custard over hot water with one-fourth cup lemon juice, one-half cup sugar and two egg yolks. When thick add one-fourth teaspoon grated lemon peel and the softened gelatin. Cool. Fold in two well-beaten egg whites, one-fourth cup minced dates, one-fourth cup minced figs and two tablespoons chopped walnuts. Pour into the mold and cover with the remaining crumbs. Chill for several hours and unmold. Serve with a garnish of whipped cream.

Bean and Sausage Casserole Wash a pound of white marrow beans and soak in cold water overnight. When ready to cook add one clove of garlic, one-half pound sliced salt pork and enough water to cover. Boil for forty-five minutes and strain off the juice, saving the liquid. Line a glass casserole with slices of salt pork. Arrange the beef of sauerkraut on the top spread a layer of sliced sausages and bits of other left-over meat. Alternate the layers until the materials are used, add one cup of the bean liquid, and sprinkle with two tablespoons brown sugar and a sprinkle of paprika. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes, then uncover and allow to brown for fifteen minutes. This will make six generous servings.

Apple Crumb Cake Apple crumb cake may be prepared while the casserole main dish is baking. Butter a baking dish. Pare two large tart apples and slice thinly. Arrange a layer of apples in the dish, sprinkle with half a cup of brown sugar and add the rest of the apples. Top with crumbs made by working together one-half cup butter, one cup flour, one cup brown sugar and one-half cup chopped nuts. Bake for an hour and serve warm with plain or whipped cream.

Recipes for easy Christmas dinners will appear in tomorrow's column.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "May a hostess assist a man guest with his coat?"—N. M."

ANSWER: A waiter or a butler may assist a man with a coat, but never a woman even if the woman is a waitress. In the instance cited, the guest should have put the coat on himself.

GIRL A MARVEL AT SEWING, BUT IT HURT NERVES

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

DORA likes to sew. But until her aunt brought her a sewing box containing a cross stitch doily, embroidery hoops and skeins of as much thread as would be needed to complete the job, she had had no purpose in sewing. She merely plied a threaded needle through some scrap or other which her mother let her have. The act of sewing was fascinating in itself.

Now Dora has something real to sew and is duly interested. She works neatly and is extremely proud of the result. For has not her mother told her, "I couldn't do half as well when twice your age?" The truth is that her work is something to marvel at. For Dora is only six. It would be hard to find another as painstaking at her age.

Of late Dora's mother has noticed ill temper in the child. At first she did not connect it with the sewing. In motherly fashion she jumped to the conclusion that her child was not feeling well. That maybe it was something which she had eaten. And she promptly supplied the proper cure! But the grouchy mood recurred, and mother noticed that it invariably happened after Dora had been sewing.

Then she saw that the child was tired and realized that the work which she was doing must be a strain on her eyes and on her nerves, too, because of the enforced concentration which is necessary. Mother immediately dropped the subject of sewing from her conversation with the child and from her conversation with others. Why give importance to a pastime that evidently is doing a child harm?

Simply because a child is able to sew something well, does not mean that she is ready for it. If a six-year-old displays an interest in sewing, let her sew. But only the easiest kind of sewing should be allowed.

Dora's case merely serves to prove once more that each age of childhood has its own limitations with regard to the development of skills. Do you know what play activities are suitable? What toys? Write for my new pamphlet, in which this subject is discussed.

The Gift Question

Mrs. Goward has prepared a new pamphlet, "Christmas Gifts for Every Child," which may be obtained free of charge by writing to her care of this paper and enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

A KITCHEN AS IT SHOULD BE

This is the kitchen in The Little House, built for demonstration purposes by the New York Committee of Better Homes in America. Walls are in white composition tile. All equipment, such as the range, electric refrigerator, etc., is white, but red is introduced in the containers for various staples and in the curtains. The floor covering is black, marbled linoleum. Designed by D. Lillian Gilbreth.

MODERN WOMEN

By MARIAN MATS MARTIN

Mrs. Buck Thinks Our Youth Could Learn Frankness From the Chinese, But Could They?

IN a recent interview with Pearl Buck still busily writing of brown men and white, she is credited with expressing the credo that American women are fearless of the opinion of others.

Yet these charges them with allowing these opinions to undermine their lives—especially their married lives. She finds that we pretend too much to our own good for, in order to pretend with any degree of success, there must be considerable concealment of the real state of affairs. "I think this habit of concealment about how one lives or a lack of tolerance about how other people live is bad for character," Mrs. Buck said. "The Chinese could teach Americans a great deal, how to manage their pretenses. They pretend about many things. But all the pretending is accepted as a polite convention, and nobody pretends that it is anything else."

"The sooner young people find out what life is like and can manage to face it without palaver the better for them."

THERE are those who might disagree with Mrs. Buck and hold that we were not past masters of concealment—that were, in fact, too brazenly revealing of our private lives. Pretense is not one of the faults of the present age, unless it's pretense resulting from leaning over backward in an attempt to be frank. Since no one seems to mind so very much what you have done, and no one minds at all that you are broke, there has ceased to be anything like the bluff, "front," or hypocrisy of other days. We've taken to bragging about being poor, and if not actually boasting of having a past, cheerily broadcasting that we have lived. Make of that statement what you will.

Personally I doubt very much if modern husbands and wives pretend to each other. I think they either love too much or too little to go through such a farce. Loving too much makes them chary of inflicting such wounds as a falsified statement would bring. Not loving enough makes them entirely unconcerned with anyone's reactions but their own.

MARRIED life is fought out in the open, not behind smoke screens made up of senseless lies, such as were told with the intent to deceive, but with very little idea that they really did. Modern women cheerfully make the fifty-fifty basis in mind, not only a share-and-share alike of any assets there may be—or of the liabilities—but everything else as well.

Men used to demand much more of the women they married than they gave. They seem less inclined to hold tight to the double standard today. Rightly or wrongly, and without thought of the effect on woman or of the future of the race, they expect, not to say, demand less. Apparently many are content to start their married life with a clean slate and have little taste for delving into the past. If that isn't facing conditions without pretense or palaver I don't know what is. And if the average young person has not been brought face to face with life during recent years and doesn't know what it's all about—heaven help him. He has committed the follies peculiar to youth, but has shouldered the responsibilities of old age. He has fought a good fight, largely because he fought facts, and not shadows.

I haven't the slightest doubt but that we could learn a great deal of wisdom from the Chinese, but in the matter of pretense, if we have not simple honors at least honors are easy.

Have You a Question? Mrs. Martin will be glad to answer in this column questions of general interest. Mrs. Martin cannot reply individually to every correspondent. Names will not be published. Address her care of this newspaper.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sore and sunk and the world looks dark, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-out feelings is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, acting when it comes to making the bile flow freely. Just don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Refuse a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

HAUPTMANN IDENTIFIED AS BUILDER

in it. Finally he had investigated 1000 mills in all sections of the country.

Weeks more went by, and one day Koehler found what he was looking for. It was a dull knife in a planing machine of the J. J. Doran company, McCormick, S. C., some time before the Doran company had shipped 45 carloads of lumber.

END OF TRAIL

Its destination was the Bronx, New York City.

There the trail stopped—in the yard of the Great National Mill Work & Lumber Company. And it might be there yet, because that concern sells lumber to hundreds of persons—had not another event, with which Koehler had nothing to do, occurred at that time. A $20 ransom bill was found on a man named Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

FOUND CLUES

At last there were clues for Koehler to work with. Hauptmann was a carpenter; in his garage was a chest of tools, Koehler took his microscope up to the Bronx, got Hauptmann's tool chest out of the garage and went on an inspection tour of the house.

Today he told what he found.

SEARCHED ATTIC

The Hauptmann attic was a rough affair. The floor was made of laths and plaster. Beams ran across the attic and to those beams are nailed rough, unpainted planks. But down at one end of the attic Koehler noticed something.

One of the floor boards was missing—eight feet of it. He went over to the gap and this is what he saw:

1.—Nail holes in the beam, therefore, the board must have been put down when the rest of the floor was laid and then taken up again.

REMOVED BOARD

2.—Sawdust on the plaster under the beam, therefore, someone must have cut out that eight foot section of board.

3.—A fresh edge on the section of the board that still was nailed to the beam, conclusive evidence that somebody had needed eight feet of board and had sawed it out of a plank in the floor.

The flooring was made of South Carolina pine. A quick check showed it to be Great National Company, to the Bronx by the Doran Company, down in South Carolina.

Hauptmann, Koehler learned, often purchased lumber from the Great National Company.

TOOK LADDER

They brought in the ladder and took it to pieces. Koehler already knew that the right hand rail of the third section of the ladder was made of South Carolina pine. He laid that piece of the ladder down on the beam, and murmured his astonishment.

The old nail holes in the ladder piece fitted exactly over the nail holes in the beam. To prove it he took a nail and with only slight pressure thrust it through the hole in the ladder piece down into the beam.

Now Koehler turned to the Hauptmann tool chest. First he brought out a plane—a big, yellow piece of wood with a steel blade thrust through it. He showed the jury photographs of the peculiar markings that this plane left on the wood used in the ladder. Then he took another piece of wood, laid it on the judge's bench and began to shave it with Hauptmann's plane. Finally he was through and he showed the jury the results of his labor. Plainly here on the board were the same stuttering little nicks that showed up in the photograph of the planing done on the wood in the ladder.

EXAMINE SAW

"Now, as to Hauptmann's saw," Koehler said.

Once more he brought out photographs of tiny nicks on boards—trivial gouges that spoke a language all their own to Koehler. "I find," he said, "that this saw out of the defendant's tool chest is the one that was used to saw the boards that were used in this ladder."

Roosevelt's Work Plan Attacked By Congressman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—UP—

President Roosevelt's plan to pay only an average of $50 monthly under the new $4,000,000,000 jobs for all program was sharply attacked after party leaders had jammed through a "gag" rule to protect the measure against "log rolling."

Representative Everett M. Dirksen, Republican, Illinois, charged that the proposed remuneration was a "starvation wage" and warned that it might result in lowering the entire wage level of the nation.

NEW PLAN TOLD

Simultaneously Chairman William F. Connery of the House Labor committee announced he was preparing a new section to the work bill which would call for a 30-hour week and a "fair and reasonable" wage under all construction contracts let by the President.

A minimum of $25 a week for skilled and $27 weekly for unskilled workers was recorded by Connery as a "fair and reasonable" wage.

"Workers at $50 a month would be scabbing on organized labor," he said tonight.

TELLS PROGRAM

The Government's contemplated $50 monthly maximum average wage was disclosed before the House Appropriations subcommittee by Rear Admiral Christian J. Peoples, selected by the administration to make a study of work projects.

The plan, it was indicated is to pay less than $50 in sections where the cost of living is low and more money where living costs are higher.

DEBATE ENDED

General debate on the bill ended late today with Representative John A. Martin, Democrat, Colorado, leaving to the defense of Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes who is a "bete noir" to many congressmen. Some accuse him of not showing proper respect, while others are dissatisfied with his allocation of public works funds.

The resentment against Ickes is so intense in some quarters that Speaker Joseph W. Byrns has had to assure party members that the cabinet officer will not have final decision on disbursement of the huge fund and that it will be left in the hands of the president.

LAIDS ICKES

Martin, resentful of sharp shooting attacks on Ickes, today described him as one of the most "corrupt, arrogant, honest and efficient" men who ever held the high office. "If he has made enemies," he made them in the interest of the country," Martin said. "He has dared to clash with the power interests, and he has opposed those who sought to loot the treasury."

Mild applause greeted Martin's remarks. The house spent the entire day disposing of preliminaries to passage of the work bill, the first important piece of legislation placed before the 74th congress. To votes of "Hitlerism," "Mussolini" and "dictatorship" the body voted 246 to 147 to adopt a "gag" rule which limits amendments to minor sections of the bill.

Three Drivers Given Terms On Drunk Charges

Three persons were sentenced to jail terms yesterday by Police Judge C. A. Odell on charges of driving while drunk.

Raymond Groom, 27, of Pittsburg, got a 30-day sentence while his 61 year old father, W. N. Groom, was given a suspended sentence on a plain drunk charge.

John T. Hendrix, 25, of 2636 Clinton Avenue, and Lucio Martinez, 32, of Walnut Creek, were given 30-day sentences.

John Solich, 42, of 315 Tewksbury Avenue, was given a month's sentence on an intoxication charge.

Richmond Man Taken By Death

Funeral services will be held from the Wilson and Kratzner chapel at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon for the late Jerry Karalis, 433 Contra Costa Avenue who died at a local hospital yesterday. Burial will be in Mountain View cemetery.

Deceased was a native of Ithaca, Greece and had lived in Richmond for the past 20 years. He had been employed as a marine fireman at the Standard Oil plant.

He leaves his sister, Mrs. Andriana Korinthias, of San Francisco.

Karpis Holds Up Illinois Bank In Wild Flight

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—UP—

The hunt for Alvin Karpis, fugitive outlaw, swung to Illinois tonight after two roving dressed men, one answering his description, held up the Trivoli State Bank, 12 miles west of Peoria, today.

ESCAPE WITH $3000

Ralph De Mars, cashier, and Fremont Opie, Jr., assistant cashier, were held at revolver point while the bandits escaped with $3000 in a car bearing Michigan license plates.

ABANDON CAR

Karpis and Harry Campbell, fleeing across country from Atlantic City, N. J., abandoned their car near Montrose, Mich., early yesterday after kidnapping a Pennsylvania doctor.

Both are members of the notorious Barker-Karpis gang, wanted for the kidnapping a year ago of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker.

Arthur "Doc" Barker, reputed to be directly responsible with Karpis for the abduction, is held under heavy guard at St. Paul awaiting trial.

Hassing Admits Guilt; Gets 1 To 15-Year Jolt

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—UP—

One of the most sensational cases in the San Francisco Police Department's history was concluded today when Oliver L. Hassing, veteran police sergeant, pleaded guilty to burglary charges and was sentenced to a term of from one to 15 years in Folsom Prison.

"The Mark of Cain has been set upon you," Superior Judge I. L. Harris said in pronouncing sentence. "You have dishonored yourself and your service. Your confinement is only part of your punishment. The disgrace you have brought upon yourself is the real punishment. And worst of all is the attitude of your fellow men."

Richard Frank, Hassing's alleged accomplice, pleaded guilty and received the same sentence. Kenneth Meyers, who confessed safe cracking jobs, implicating Frank and Hassing, pleaded guilty and hearing was set for Saturday on a plea for probation, entered by Public Defender Gerald Kenne.

Mother-Brother Slayer Found Insane By Jury

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—UP—

Louis Rude Payne, 19 year old slayer of his mother and young brother, escaped the gallows today when a jury found him insane. Superior Judge Ruben S. Schmidt immediately ordered his commitment to a State hospital for the insane.

The jury, second to deliberate Payne's sanity, required only three and a half hours to reach a verdict. The first jury, which convicted Payne on the charge of murder, was dismissed after failing to agree on the second plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Under the law, it is possible, if not probable, that Payne will regain his freedom in one year. After 12 months' confinement, he is to be brought back here for a mental examination, and if found "well" he would be discharged from the institution. In that case, since a jury has cleared him of responsibility for the murder, there would be no charge standing against him.

Mother Would Save Son Who Wants To Die

VISALIA, Cal., Jan. 23.—UP—

A move to gain executive clemency for Harold Bieber, convicted slayer of his sister, Lena Blair, was started today by his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Haynes.

Bieber confessed inflicting a fatal knife wound on his sister November 18, and asked that he be given the death sentence for his act. He is scheduled to hang February 1 at Folsom prison.

His mother told county officials today that she would appeal for executive clemency in his case. Recent letters written by Bieber have reaffirmed his desire to die in expiation of the slaying.

YOUTH STANGLED

A ring fashioned from a part of a dice was the principal clue aiding detectives today in their efforts to identify the body of a 17-year-old boy found in a patch of foothill Boulevard. The body was thought at first to be that of a Mexican. Police tentatively reported the victim died of strangulation. A rope was wrapped around his neck.

were putting up valiant resistance to the combined Japanese and Manchukuoan forces, according to the reports. They succeeded in halting the advance along a 25 mile front late Wednesday, it was said.

REPORTS DENIED

The fighting apparently was in an area some 150 miles northwest of Peking, but relatively isolated by lack of railroads and highways and in desolate mountain country. Tushou is a gateway through the great wall of China, not far from the Jehol border and Manchukuo boundary.

Japanese officials repeatedly have denied reports of serious clashes in the district during the last week. Officials have claimed the tension between Chinese troops of General Sung Chi-Yuan and the Japanese forces as a local border incident, involving a dispute over location of the border line. Immediate cause of the hostilities was a Japanese claim that Chinese troops had occupied a portion of Jehol, and also had seized 40 members of a Japanese-Manchukuo vigilante committee.

Chinese authorities conferred Wednesday and today with General Sung, now in Peking. They claimed that Sung's men had withdrawn from the contested region, and that the present advance was in territory completely within Chahar province.

Japanese replied that Sung's troops were irregulars, and were not recognized by the Nationalist government. They claimed that Sung's men had withdrawn from the contested region, and that the present advance was in territory completely within Chahar province.

Elks Lodge Will Have Ladies Night

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—UP—

A ring fashioned from a part of a dice was the principal clue aiding detectives today in their efforts to identify the body of a 17-year-old boy found in a patch of foothill Boulevard. The body was thought at first to be that of a Mexican. Police tentatively reported the victim died of strangulation. A rope was wrapped around his neck.

Preparations are being made by the Richmond lodge of Elks for their ladies night program to be held Saturday evening, February 2, at the lodge hall. Admittance will be by membership card only.

There will be dancing and a supper will be served at midnight. A. G. Robertson heads the committee in charge.

Committee On Birthday Ball Convenes Here

Final preparations for the second President's birthday ball, to be held next Wednesday evening at the Memorial hall, were discussed last night when the committee held its meeting at the Brotherhood hall.

At the time it was announced that E. L. Orr will continue to serve as chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

It was stated that the New Deal Cafe on Macdonald Avenue and donated three hours to be given away during the dance. Eddie Traverso, well known local accordionist and the Aradian Radio quartette, have donated their services for the evening.

In addition, the Richmond Maennerchor is donating a sum in return for the privilege of advertising their dance which will be held February 2.

A concession will be sold by the committee at the meeting on Monday night. It was announced. This concession will be for the sale of foodstuffs.

Preparations for the ball's meeting, a reception from Rodon met and discussed plans for the evening at the ball. Plans and fraternal bodies are cooperating at Rodon to make their dance a success.

Disputed Land Titles Lead To Slaying Of 13

MEXICAN CITY, Jan. 23.—UP—

Thirteen persons were killed in clashes between Agrarians, police and soldiers today. Nine fell in fighting at Rancho Campo, while four were slain at Villa Union, State of Coahuila.

Advices from Tampico said the shot at Rancho Campo started at a meeting of the peasants and the mayor. Soldiers attempted to restore order and in the ensuing battle, one colonel, one major, one lieutenant and six colonists were killed. Three farmers were held as ringleaders.

The clash at Villa Union was over disputed land titles, and in the fight between police and agrarians, the chief of police was one of four killed.

Renewed rioting between Catholics and red-shirts broke out today near Guadalupe Shrine. Two persons were injured before police and firemen restored order in the village.

ployment by means of wheat subsistence farm projects, was proposed in a bill by Assemblyman Charles W. Lyon, Los Angeles Republican.

By the plan proposed the State will acquire farms and equip them from funds of the $24,000,000 State unemployment bond issue as a means of reducing metropolitan relief rolls and making needy persons self-supporting.

BASS BATTLE ON

The biennial battle over the taking of striped bass opened in the lower House with introduction of bills by Melvin Cronin, San Francisco, increasing the minimum limit of bass from 12 inches to 22 inches and prohibiting any commercial catching of the game fish.

Safety Council At Session Here

A short business meeting, presided over by Dr. George A. Boehmer, was held by organization committees of the proposed Richmond Safety Council last evening.

Dr. Boehmer reported that "much progress" was made last night, but that another meeting will be held next Thursday evening at 7:30 at the City Hall.

At that time permanent committees and officers for the organization will be named.

A section of the department where Chesterfield tobaccos are blended and cross-blended.

Just what is meant by cross-blending tobaccos...and how does it make a cigarette milder and taste better...

Well, in blending you take two or more tobaccos and mix them together—a rather simple process. But cross-blending goes a step further...

IN making Chesterfields we take Bright tobacco from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. We take Burley tobacco from Kentucky and Tennessee, and tobacco from Southern Maryland.

Then in addition to these home-grown tobaccos we take tobacco grown in Turkey and Greece.

We balance these mild, ripe home-grown tobaccos with the right amounts and the right kinds of aromatic Turkish.

Then, instead of just mixing the tobaccos together, we blend and cross-blend them so that all the different flavors go together into one full flavor—the Chesterfield taste that so many smokers like.

Cross-blending tobaccos as it is done in Chesterfields gives the cigarette a pleasing taste and aroma—they're mild and yet They Satisfy.
